SILKS

For Summer Wear.

The blending of voices in a chorus requires the services of a Doctor of Music, a professor well up in the art of vocal culture. The blending of colors in dress fabrics, particularly silken weaves, is just such an artistic proposition. The color tones must not be harsh nor grating—the soprano and contralto must be sought out, brought together, so to speak, in perfect harmony.

We have in charge of our silk store one whom we are pleased to term a "Doctor of Colors"—knows the gamut of shade blending perfectly, and is here to teach you. He's surrounded by an array of finery only to be found in a down-to-date big city institution. They're priced right, because they were bought right. It's his expressed intention to make this a week of silk selling, and if extraordinary values at extraordinarily meager prices count for anything, he'll not be disappointed.

A Glendale Lot Sale.
A public sale of lots at Glendale, Marshall county, is contemplated by the Glendale Improvement Company, to occur in a month or two. The company conducted a successful sale in the summer of 1892, since which time little effort has been made to boom the property. Glendale is located on the finest stretch of river bottom land in this section and offer splendid advantages for homes of a pretentious character. The company will extensively advertise the lot sale and may run free excursions on the day of the sale, as it did eight years ago.

A FUGITIVE FROM JUSTICE
Arrested in Wheeling Last Night, and Returned to Belmont.

Saturday night, Officer Kroneweth located a fugitive from justice at a house on Alley 5 in North Wheeling, and placed him under arrest. James Bard is the man's name, and he recently made his escape from the Belmont county jail at St. Clairsville. He had been out as a "trustee," and found no difficulty in making good his escape to this side of the river. He was serving a three-months' term of imprisonment, and had sixty days to serve. Sheriff Foreman came over from St. Clairsville yesterday and took Bard back to the county seat.

BRIEF MENTIONINGS.

Events in and About the City Given in a Nutshell.

Miss Mabel Bullard very charmingly entertained a number of her young friends Saturday evening, at her home on South York street, island.

Reports from out in the country say that the frost last week will do no little damage to the fruit. It is not thought the peaches are injured, but plums and cherries will suffer.

Special Baltimore & Ohio Officer Short and Constables Darby and Metz yesterday made another haul of train jumpers, who will be tried before Justice Dunning to-day.

To-night at 8 o'clock, there will be a children's May party at the Carroll Club, for members of the club only. The programme includes fancy dances, a cake walk and tableaux. There is no charge for admission.

The hearing of Frank McGee, the young man who killed George McCammon, at West Alexander, last fall, will occur at Washington, Pa., on May 21. The defendant will fight the charge on a self-defense theory.

Rev. T. J. White, who has accepted the call to the pastorate of the Second Christian church, on the island, delivered his farewell sermon to his congregation at West Liberty, yesterday. Rev. Mr. White is taking a post-graduate course at Bethany college, which he will complete next month.

Last night at 8:30 o'clock, a still alarm called the Atlantic to the corner of Nineteenth and Wood streets, where boys had fired a rubbish heap. For a time the fire looked dangerous, and it was feared houses near-by would be attacked, but the firemen did good work and soon had the blaze extinguished.

Yesterday morning occurred the death of Mr. J. C. Land, of 23 Virginia street, in the eighty-first year of his age. The funeral will take place from the family residence, Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, to which friends are invited. Mr. Land, who was one of Wheeling's oldest citizens, was formerly a tailor.

At the instance of residents of Leatherwood, Constable Darby yesterday afternoon arrested four boys, who were swimming in the creek there. The boys' names are Stephen Blatchley, William McCurdy, James Harcourt and Edward Helder. They were placed in jail for a hearing before Justice Dunning to-day. Three were released last night upon giving bonds.

West Alexander had prospects of securing a glass factory, a location at that town having been considered by a company, in which Mr. J. C. Brady, of this city, is interested, but the company has decided on a site at Clarksburg. West Alexander's chief advantage is the new gas line passing through the town from the Cameron field, owned by the Ohio Valley Gas Company.

Saturday evening, 1,000 members of the Wheeling lodges of the Shield of Honor went to Bellaire on a steamboat, and paraded over the streets of the town, accompanied by the new lodge of the order there. At the corner of Thirty-second and Union streets an open air meeting was held which was addressed by Messrs. W. P. Robinson and Charles J. Schuck, of Wheeling.

Quartermaster Sergeant John J. Fitzpatrick and Corporal Harry B. McGrane, both of Company A, First Infantry, West Virginia National Guard, have enlisted for the regular army at the local recruiting station and left last week to join their regiment in the Philippines. Both were in Company M, First West Virginia Volunteers, and had excellent records, and it has been their ambition for some time to go to the Philippines.

Last night Mr. L. M. English received a telegram from his sister, Mrs. M. P. Wright, of Milford, Ind., telling of the death of William T. English, after an illness of several months. Mr. English went to Indiana in the hope of restored health, but unfortunately without avail. He is survived by a wife and one child. The deceased was well known in Wheeling; for many years he was connected with the Smith Brewing Company, and later was an assistant in the office of Collector of Customs Schaefer.
